BIG Story

WE DON'T JUST GO BIG,

We go Bigger

K+G WETTER MAW G160 WORTH
R2.3 MIL
SOLD TO LA OMA BUTCHER
VANDEBIJLPARK

This is the first K+G wetter sold by Ernst Snyman and Rikus Cromhout. The customer wanted to expand the fresh production facility at their premises with an automated line to achieve 7 tons of boerewors per day.

They also wanted to simplify the production by using one machine to mix and grind with consistency and accuracy. So they called the WETTERS!

As we all know, Rikus is responsible for all equipment needs, whether big, small or... huge. In his 5 years at Crown, Rikus views this as his greatest accomplishment to date.

And to make things better, he extends the applause to not only his colleague but a best friend, as this was a team effort from the word get go.

"We take the motto of Crown 'We're here to help' very seriously," says Rikus, "and the result was a very satisfied and happy customer who bought a solution, rather than stainless steel".

TURNING 20 FOR THE 3RD TIME.

Happy 60th Birthday DESIREE

You're the youngest 60 year old we know. And it's not just because you look young. It's also because you define what CHILDLIKE WONDER is really about – Here's wishing you, Desiree Collop, a very happy and carefree 60th birthday.

TOOLBOX TALK FROM THE OHS Corner

LISTEN UP! SAFETY IS OUR PRIORITY EARPHONES IN THE WORKPLACE

The wearing of earphones underneath the earmuffs whilst working in the workplace where you are required to wear hearing protection is prohibited. Earphones do not protect against hearing loss and can be dangerous as they prevent you from hearing warning signals and alarms, sounds of defective machinery, forklift hooters and reverse alarms. Additionally, this malpractice may lead to hearing impairment! It is therefore required that all persons refrain from using earphones underneath hearing protection. Line managers or supervisors are also required to inform their staff of risks associated with this malpractice and take the necessary corrective action where non-compliance is observed.

Let's continue to work in a safe manner and be on the lookout for any safety risks in our operations.

An injury to one is an injury to all.
